I wish to call your attention to the per cent of attendance in the school at East Westmoreland, as shown in the table of statistics given on a preceding page. It is to be noted that in the school at East Westmoreland the per cent is smaller each term of school than in any other school in town, with the exception of the school at the Corner, where an attempt was made for one term to conduct a school. The natural results of such poor attendance have been realized, and inevitably must be in the future until the fault has been corrected.

In the matter of minor repairs, I wish to remind you that it is without doubt cheaper in the end to keep our schoolhouses in first class condition rather than to postpone all repairs until absolutely necessary. Minor repairs postponed soon become major repairs. The high school building is, I believe, a concrete example of the truth of this statement. Quite extensive repairs are needed at Westmoreland Depot, and minor repairs at East Westmoreland and at the Meadow. I believe a special appropriation should be made for repairs at the school at Westmoreland Depot.

With reference to the matter of transportation, I wish to quote from the N. H. School Report, page 81. In his opinion in the appeal of Edgar J. Jones from the decision of the school board of Webster, Mr. Morrison observes as follows: "It is a well established principle that the parent has a primary obligation to provide for the education of his child, and in the fulfillment of that obligation must expect inconvenience and even hardship, nor is his obligation in any way lessened by the action of an enlightened and beneficent state in providing free education for his children. If his residence is at an inconvenient distance from the school, that fact doubtless may constitute a hardship for him, but the hardship cannot be taken off his shoulders and constitute a hardship for the entire community. On the other hand, our courts have established the doctrine that the parent cannot be obliged to submit his child to peril of life or health, nor can he be obliged to give up his regular vocation for a part of the day while he conducts his child safely to and from school, whether with or without compensation for so doing." I believe this opinion may furnish food for thought on the part of both parents and school officials. Those particularly interested in this subject may find pleasure in the reading of the recent decision of the supreme court, No. 989, Fogg v. Board of Education of Littleton.

The district last year lost its state aid because its appropriations for school purposes fell below $4.50 for each thousand dollars of its valuation, which fact was construed by the state to mean that the support of its schools was not an unusual burden for the town. In order to obtain state aid this year, the tax for school purposes must be at least $4.50 on each thousand of equalized valuation. To bring your tax to this amount your district must raise $2,618. Deducting the $1,230 which is required by law and it leaves you $1,388 to be raised in addition. Deducting again your estimates for books and supplies, and high school and academy tuitions, both of which must be assessed without any vote of the district or town, and you have $1,028. Then again deduct your estimates for salaries of school board, truant officer and other district officers, and you have $931. This is the least additional amount that the district can vote and get state aid, unless a special appropriation is voted for repairs. In this event, such appropriation could also be deducted from the $931.

With sincere expressions of gratitude to the board, to the teachers, and to the community for another year of pleasant associations, this report is respectfully submitted.

LOUIS DeWITT RECORD,
Superintendent of Schools.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

It will be seen by the librarian's report that the interest in our library has been fully maintained the past year, as is evident by the patronage received. During the year we have purchased more books than usual in response to the demand. We now desire to express our appreciation of the loyalty to his native town of Oliver L. Briggs, of Boston, Mass., in his presentation of a set of Beacon Lights of History books of signal merit, also to others who have shown their interest in the success of our library, whose names will be found in our librarian's report. From the beginning our library has been favored by loyal, efficient librarians, and we regret to lose Mrs. Craig in this capacity. We have confidence that Mrs. Leonard, who cares for the library the coming year, will be equally satisfactory. We feel that our library, the outgrowth from the smallest beginning to its present size and worth, is most creditable to the town.
